Roosevelt To Keep His Hands Off

Will Let the "Old Guard" Fight Its Own Fight in New York State Campaign.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt spent today in what was probably the most important political conference he has held since he left the White House. His gathered about him a group of his close friends and talked over with them the situation which is best expressed in the reports that relations between President Taft and himself are strained to the breaking point.

William Leach, Jr., collector of the part of New York, Lloyd C. Griscom, chairman of the New York republican committee, Representative William J. Kracke of Brooklyn, Frederick J. H. Kracke of Brooklyn and Representative W. W. Cocks of Colonel Roosevelt's home district took part in the conference.

From what was said by some of the party it was learned that the ex-president and his friends have agreed on a plan of action which will hold until the situation shapes itself more clearly. Briefly stated, it is this:

The Plan of Action Agreed On.
Colonel Roosevelt is to stand aside in the New York state campaign and let the "old guard" fight it out, and thus shoulder all the responsibility for the conduct and result of the campaign. He is neither to endorse nor criticize the Taft administration. He is to keep out all around if he can.

Through some of today's visitors it was learned just why the colonel has decided to keep his hands off. He feels that the republican state committee in refusing to endorse him for temporary chairman of the Saratoga convention, has put him in a position to accept much against his will, with the knowledge that he would be held responsible for election results, acted in a manner that would make further activity on his part look as if he were leading a factional fight against the administration. It was said that Colonel Roosevelt does not deem it either wise or proper to permit himself to become involved in such a factional fight, and that his present decision is that he will not go to the convention or take any part which would render him responsible. He has come to no definite conclusion, however.

Reserves Right to Jump into the Fight at Any Time.
One important proviso was emphasized at today's conference. Those with whom he talked were made to understand clearly that Colonel Roosevelt reserves to himself the right to jump into the thick of the fight at any time if he believes that the policies of which he is the exponent are in serious jeopardy. But he let it be known that he would do so with extreme reluctance, for he feels that in such a contingency he might be directly involved in a controversy with the Taft administration.

From what was said after the conference it was gathered that Colonel Roosevelt believes the present attitude of men who are influential in the national administration hostile to him and that an open rupture may result. In such case, the colonel feels that he may be compelled at any time to exert his influence against the administration.

Those who are closest to the ex-president believe that he will do everything in his power to avert such a crisis during the fall campaign. It is his opinion that if he should decide to fight he prefers to postpone the fight until the election, when the question of the nation's policy for the next four years is to be brought before the entire country and when a successor to William H. Taft is to be elected.

Again, Become a Candidate for the Presidency.
Should such an issue between Colonel Roosevelt and the administration present itself at this time, it is the firm belief of the colonel's intimate associates that he will be in the fight to the end, and that he will stake his own future on the outcome and will become a candidate for the presidency.

However, he has not yet decided whether he will accept such a situation as a remote contingency which is not to receive serious attention at the present time.

He has said repeatedly that he can form no plans for the future, for the situation may be changed completely at any time. He has told his friends that he is a candidate for no office and that he can conceive of no circumstances which would lead him to accept the gubernatorial nomination or a seat in the United States senate. His associates believe that the only reason he has not accepted another term in order successfully to carry on the work he began while president.

Colonel is to Start West Tuesday.
The conference broke up late today without any definite agreement as to when and where he will be held. Colonel Roosevelt is to start for the west on Tuesday, and his friends have agreed on a plan of action which will hold until the situation shapes itself more clearly. Briefly stated, it is this:
